Stewardship Thought: In this period of history called the "Information Age" it is important to remember Paul's words to the Corinthians, "Knowledge will pass away . . . There are in the end three things that last: faith, hope and love, and the greatest of these is love." No amount of information, no amount of knowledge will justify your being lacking in love. Rather, as you know more, your capacity to love should increase. Choose to pursue knowledge with this goal in mind.
